

Bizzy was a one-striped bee and a bit on the small side.
The other bees had three yellow stripes and thought they were better because of this.

But Bizzy focused on her job.
She was the hardest worker of them all.
She collected as much pollen in the morning
as her friends did in the entire day!

She loved weaving through the grass and zipping around the flowers.

But buzzing from bloom to bloom wasn't enough to keep her happy.
Bizzy wanted more.
